

They know they're wrong

How? Just watch them.

They stop any and all discussions.

They spread false reports.

They whisper, Tweet, and Facebook deceptions.

They try to control conversations.

They ramp up their Hasbara campaigns.

They always use emotions to sell their stories, like, sadness, anger, and happiness.

Narrative is important to them, facts are not.

What people are thinking, not what people may learn, is paramount to them.

They increase money to their propaganda efforts.

They'll say, "What!?! You don't believe me?!?"

They blame others. It's never their fault.

They always want to get you alone, so they can feel free to lie to you in peace. But they do this so they can prevent anyone from opposing their defamations.

They sabotage you.

They grin, while they prepare to undermine you.

They manipulate others against you.

They're abundant in scheming cleverness but bereft of calm wisdom.

Whenever the truth shows its lovely face, they turn away.

They know they're wrong.

If they were right, they wouldn't need to do any of the above.

PS They hate the fact that I wrote this.
